

ABSTRACT

A file searching method of a data broadcasting system, the method including the steps of: confirming whether or not a Download Server Initiate control message is updated, in response to a search request for a file object; and searching the search-requested file object from a new root directory object, in case that Download Server Initiate control message is updated.